

Hotel Terminus.

Engleberg.

Wednesday.

My dear Maggie.

I thank you for your letter which arrived all right in spite of the scanty address.

This is a very pleasant place and very pretty though owing to the vile weather we cannot see much of it. It snowed on the 14th & has rained pretty steadily ever since.

However it makes no odds to me. I'm - it does, well - that it is a good excuse for not climbing any mountains.

Various people have been here to climb the Tit-les they have ~~also~~ always gone away as soon as possible, perhaps a good thing as children always make a horrid noise about by now. The country is a curious place is it not, it is difficult to believe that any one in their right mind can shut themselves up in such a place for life. I wish they would not get up so early the bell makes an atrocious noise every morn-at half past 4

How you are flourishing Yrs ever J. R.
