Dear H&R,

Just a note to say that I have not forgotten the obligations and privileges attendant to being the official Godfather of Spottiswoode offspring. The appropriate Silver Item is about to be dispatched.

Lily looks great in the two pix that arrived with the script. Mary thought the idea of being in the tub with Lily just wonderful and regrets she never realized how much a baby must enjoy a bath without being alone in a basin of water.

Even as a grown-up (maybe especially) I, too, think it a great idea!

Have only started the script...but it does begin quite well.

More soon.....

Have now finished the script...really great! Counting points will be quired in next letter.
